

Oyedeji Ayonrinde, MD, FRCPsych, MBA

Dr. Ayonrinde is a community psychiatrist in Kingston, Ontario and Clinical Director for the Community Mental Health Programmes at Providence Care supporting vulnerable individuals with severe mental illness across the hospital and community interface. He is an Associate Professor at Queen's University and holds cross-departmental appointments in the departments of Psychiatry and Psychology, where he supports a number of postgraduate and residency programs. His global health areas of interest are related to social determinants of health, health equity, marginalized populations including cancer and severe mental illness.