

Pam Komonoski grew up in rural Saskatchewan and went on to study Nursing at Kelsey Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences. She began her nursing career on Orthopedics at Royal University Hospital and began working at Student Health Services at the University of Saskatchewan in 1988. She was the twelfth Registered Nurse to become licensed as a Nurse Practitioner in 1999. She has provided nursing care to students at the University of Saskatchewan for 34 years. She is grateful to be part of an amazing team at the Student Wellness Centre.