

Dr. Katelyn Halpape completed her undergraduate pharmacy degree at the University of Saskatchewan in 2012, her Hospital Pharmacy Residency in Regina in 2013, and her Doctor of Pharmacy degree at the University of British Columbia in 2015. Katelyn is an Assistant Professor in the areas of psychiatric medicine, mental health, and neurology with the College of Pharmacy and Nutrition at the University of Saskatchewan. Katelyn is the clinical lead for the USask Chronic Pain Clinic and has an active clinical practice at the Dube Centre for Mental Health.